| Executive summary (1 page max.) | [A/24/reference number] Madrid. [date] 2021 Original: English |

The COVID-19 pandemic has demonstrated, as never before, the vital economic and social role that tourism plays worldwide. Tourism is a major driver of the global economy, but the pandemic has had a devastating impact globally and has gravely affected this vital sector, reducing the socioeconomic value it creates. 62 million jobs and USD 4 trillion in GDP have been lost in 2020. The world needs to take action to avoid this happening again and to reinvigorate this important sector.

For the sector to recover, flourish and become resilient to future global shocks, it needs change, commitment and investment to benefit people worldwide, especially in developing countries. To reposition the tourism sector more prominently on a global scale, we need greater international collaboration and empowered International organizations. This would ensure an Integrated and coordinated approach that embraces tourism's interconnected and interrelated nature and maximizes the sector's contribution to the achievement of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals It is now time to Redesign Tourism for the Future through change, commitment and investment.

As an active champion of tourism that seeks to work globally with other interested governments and private sector entities, Saudi Arabia demonstrates its commitment to driving collaboration across all levels — a commitment that lies at the heart of the Diriyah Communiqué signed during Saudi Arabia's G20 Presidency in 2020, which recognizes the important role public-private partnerships play in the tourism sector.

Not only is Saudi Arabia committed, it is also ready to provide essential resources to strengthen the sector based on the principles of sustainability and opportunities for all, working with and through multilateral institutions. As the world's biggest single investor in tourism. Saudi Arabia has pledged USD 100 million to activate the Tourism Community Initiative through the World Bank, as a catalyst of sector recovery, by enabling communities through human and institutional capacity building programs to spread the economic benefits of tourism.

Saudi Arabia has been an active partner of the UNWTO, supporting important initiatives including the UNWTO Academy and UNWTO Best Villages Program as well as being the home of the first UNWTO Regional Office, opened in May 2021.

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia presents the UNWTO and its Members with a proposal to redesign tourism for the future together, including by establishing a Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force. This proposal aims to unite the public and private sectors, empower multilateral organizations and increase collaboration among stakeholders to safeguard against future challenges. The Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force also aims to reinvigorate the UNWTO by, inter alia, considering changes to the UNWTO's current working methods, and/or other reforms of the UNWTO, while remaining within the framework of the existing Statutes of the Organization.

The Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force would be composed of one Member State selected by each of the Regional Commissions plus a chair. Building on Saudi Arabia's demonstrated commitment to the development of the sector, and its proposal to Redesign Tourism for the Future, the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia offers itself to chair the Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force.

The Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force would be composed of eleven Member States, nine selected by the members of each of the Regional Commissions in proportion to the respective number of its their members (two for Africa, two for the Americas, one for East Asia and the Pacific, two for Europe, one for the Middle East and one for South Asia) plus two equal co-chairs. Building on Saudi Arabia's demonstrated commitment to the development of the sector, and its proposal to Redesign Tourism for the Future, the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia offers itself to as co-chair of the Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force, alongside the Kingdom of Spain as equal co-chair.

Action by the General Assembly

DRAFT RESOLUTION¹ (1 page max)

The General Assembly

I. Proposal to Redesign Tourism for the Future

1. By a letter dated 20 October 2021 the Minister of Tourism of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, H.E. Mr. Ahmed Al Khateeb, informed the Secretary-General of the proposal of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to work in collaboration with international partners to redesign tourism to unite the public and private sectors, empower multilateral organizations and increase collaboration between stakeholders to safeguard against future challenges through a range of measures, including establishing within the UNWTO a task force to redesign tourism for the future (the "Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force"). A copy of the letter is attached to the present document as Annex 1. •
2. At the request of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the Secretary-General hereby submits this proposal to Redesign Tourism for the Future including establishing the Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force, for decision by the General Assembly of the UNWTO, in accordance with Rules 38(1) and 40 of the Rules of Procedure of the General Assembly.

II. The Need for Action

3. Tourism is a major driver of the global economy, but the COVID-19 pandemic has had a devastating impact globally and has gravely affected this vital sector, reducing the socio-economic value it creates. 62 million jobs, and USD 4 trillion in annual GDP have been lost in 2020. All countries have suffered. But this impact has fallen disproportionately on the developing world.
4. The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia recognizes that current global policy does not reflect the far-reaching importance of the tourism sector and it is time for this to change. Tourism is a major driver of the global economy. Before the pandemic hit, 10.4% of global GDP was generated by travel and tourism and 1 in 4 new jobs were created by the tourism sector. The pandemic has had a devastating impact globally and has seriously affected this vital sector, reducing the socioeconomic value it creates.

5. For the sector to recover, flourish and become resilient to future global shocks, it needs change, commitment and investment to benefit people worldwide, and especially in developing countries. To reposition the tourism sector more prominently on a global scale, we need greater international collaboration and empowered international organizations. This will ensure a more integrated and coordinated approach that embraces tourism's interconnected and interrelated nature and maximizes the sector's contribution to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals.

III. Mandate of the Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force

6. In order to address the above, the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia proposes that the UNWTO establish the Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force.
7. The Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force shall be mandated to:
 - i. reinvigorate the UNWTO by, inter alia, considering changes to the UNWTO's current working methods, within the framework of the existing Statutes of the Organization, as well as the establishment of improved programs and initiatives, to ensure that the UNWTO can service the existing and future needs of the tourism sector particularly in relation to the developing world.
 - ii. take under consideration measures that respond to global calls for a UNWTO that provides its Member States with materially improved programs and initiatives, that it is capable of executing with tangible and measurable outcomes which are designed to serve the future that caters to the needs of all Member States including developing States and that aligns with the three key pillars of Redesigning Tourism for the Future: sustainability, resilience and inclusivity, and
 - iii. encourage and ensure the meaningful participation of non-State stakeholders in the redesign of the global tourism sector.

8. This mandate of the Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force aligns with the UNWTO's aims and purposes.
9. In order to ensure the Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force can satisfy its mandate, it shall continue until at least the ~~26th~~ 25 (ordinary) session of the General Assembly of the UNWTO. The Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force mandate shall be renewed automatically, unless decided otherwise by a majority of Full Member States present and voting.

IV. Saudi Arabia: Calling to Reshape the Future of Tourism Together

10. As an active champion of tourism, Saudi Arabia demonstrates its commitment to driving collaboration across all levels — a commitment that lies at the heart of the Diriyah Communiqué signed during Saudi Arabia's G20 Presidency in 2020, which recognizes the important role public-private partnerships play in the tourism sector.
11. Saudi Arabia has been an active partner of the UNWTO, supporting important initiatives including the UNWTO Academy and UNWTO Best Villages Program as well as being the home of the first UNWTO Regional Office opened in May 2021.
12. As the world's biggest single investor in tourism Saudi Arabia has pledged USD 100 million to activate the Tourism Community Initiative through the World Bank as a catalyst of sector recovery by enabling communities through human and institutional capacity building programs to spread the economic benefits of tourism.
13. The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia has successfully held a leadership role within the UNWTO. In addition to hosting a Regional Office of the UNWTO, this year the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia co-hosted the Global Tourism Crisis Committee Meeting of the UNWTO, as well as the 47th meeting of UNWTO Regional Commission for the Middle East. The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia has also served on several committees and organs of the UNWTO, including as the current Second Vice-Chair of the Executive Council.

14. As part of its demonstrated commitment to Redesign Tourism for the Future, the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia has offered to within the framework of the existing Statutes of the Organization, co-chair the Redesigning Tourism for the Future Task Force.
