Executive summary

Following the Executive Council's endorsement at its 126th session of the roadmap and supporting framework for the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027, preparations have moved from framework development to operational implementation planning. The governance, national coordination, programmatic, partnership and communication arrangements needed for coordinated action in 2027, and for a lasting legacy beyond the Year, are being put in place.

The transition rests on a Member State-driven implementation architecture, with Member States supported in establishing National Committees or other national coordination mechanisms as the principal means of organizing implementation at the national level.

Notable achievements to date include:

(a) First meeting of the Steering Committee for the International Year, held on 11 June 2026 in Toledo, Spain, commencing its work as the strategic steering and validation mechanism for the Year.

(b) Preparations for the official Opening Ceremony in Tashkent, Uzbekistan, on 27 November 2026, and formal requests from Honduras and the Philippines to host the flagship events for the Americas and Asia and the Pacific respectively.

(c) Regional onboarding sessions with Member States on the establishment of National Committees and national implementation arrangements, complemented by global engagement with academic and research networks, INSTO members and Affiliate Members on the knowledge and research pillar.

(d) Finalization of the Terms of Use of the logo and visual identity of the International Year, submitted to the present session for endorsement.

(e) Launch of the International Year website as the main online platform for information and resources, together with information materials to support outreach to potential partners and sponsors.

DRAFT DECISION[1]

Agenda item 5
International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027
(document CE/127/5)

The Executive Council,

Having examined the report on the preparations for the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027,

Recalling United Nations General Assembly resolution 78/260, by which the General Assembly proclaimed 2027 the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism and invited UN Tourism to facilitate its organization and implementation in collaboration with Governments, relevant organizations of the United Nations system, international and regional organizations and other relevant stakeholders, and recalling further that the costs of activities arising from its implementation are to be met from voluntary contributions,

Acknowledging the important contribution of tourism to sustainable development and recognizing the opportunity provided by the International Year to generate evidence, experience and Member State perspectives that can help shape a shared understanding of tourism's contribution to sustainable development and inform its longer-term positioning within future global development frameworks,

Recognizing the importance of putting in place during 2026 the governance, national coordination, programmatic, partnership, financing and communication arrangements necessary for the effective implementation of the International Year in 2027 and for sustaining its impact beyond the Year,

1. Welcomes the work undertaken by the UN Tourism Secretariat during the preparation phase of the International Year and commends the Secretary-General for her leadership, dedication and strategic vision in advancing its preparation and implementation and in using the International Year as a platform to deepen and consolidate the evidence, experience and Member State perspectives on tourism's contribution to sustainable development, building on the sector's explicit recognition under Goals 8, 12 and 14 of the 2030 Agenda and helping to inform its appropriate consideration within future global development frameworks;

2. Expresses its appreciation to Uzbekistan for hosting the official Opening Ceremony of the International Year and welcomes the early expressions of interest and formal requests received from Honduras and the Philippines to host the flagship events for the Americas and Asia and the Pacific, respectively, noting that such early engagement provides the Secretariat with the necessary lead time to support the preparation and delivery of these major milestones of the International Year;

3. Encourages Member States from Africa, Europe and the Middle East to communicate their interest in hosting the remaining flagship events at the earliest opportunity;

4. Welcomes and commends Member States that have already established National Committees or other national coordination mechanisms for the International Year, recognizing their central role in translating its objectives into coordinated action and ensuring implementation at the national level, while providing structured contributions to regional and global processes, and encourages other Member States to advance appropriate national coordination arrangements at the earliest opportunity;

5. Welcomes the early engagement of organizations and entities of the United Nations system, as well as international and regional organizations, in exploring opportunities to contribute to the International Year within their respective mandates, and encourages further contributions through relevant programmes, initiatives, knowledge activities and communications to strengthen the reach, visibility and impact of its implementation;

6. Further encourages Member States, international and regional organizations, academic and research institutions and other relevant partners to contribute actively to the knowledge, research and capacity-building pillars of the International Year, including through data, evidence, research expertise, case studies and financial or in-kind support;

7. Endorses the Terms of Use of the logo and visual identity of the International Year, as set out in Annex I, with a view to ensuring their consistent, appropriate and authorized use in connection with activities, initiatives and communications undertaken in support of the International Year;

8. Welcomes the commencement of the work of the Steering Committee for the International Year, expresses its appreciation to its members for their commitment, guidance and active engagement, and recognizes the Committee's role in providing strategic guidance, validating key elements of the implementation framework and fostering coherence across national, regional and global initiatives; and

9. Requests the Secretariat to consolidate systematically the evidence, experiences and Member State perspectives emerging from national processes, the regional flagship events and the knowledge products of the International Year, with a view to its lasting legacy beyond 2027.

I. Introduction

1. The United Nations General Assembly, in its resolution 78/260 of 26 February 2024, proclaimed 2027 the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism, invited the World Tourism Organization (UN Tourism) to facilitate its organization and implementation in collaboration with Governments, the United Nations system, international and regional organizations and other relevant stakeholders, and stressed that the costs of implementation should be met from voluntary contributions.

2. The International Year provides a time-bound global platform to translate shared ambitions on sustainable and resilient tourism into more concrete and coordinated action at national, regional and global levels. It also offers an opportunity to generate evidence, strengthen capacities and mobilize partnerships that can carry tourism's explicit recognition under Goals 8, 12 and 14 of the 2030 Agenda into discussions on the post-2030 development agenda.

3. The International Year is being developed through a Member State-driven and implementation-oriented process, with 2026 serving as the preparatory phase and 2027 as the main year of implementation. UN Tourism is responsible for facilitating the overall framework, including its thematic areas, flagship events, knowledge products and capacity-building activities, while Member States are encouraged to establish National Committees or other national coordination mechanisms, as appropriate, to organize implementation in line with their national priorities and institutional arrangements.

4. The present report provides an update on progress achieved in the preparations for the International Year and presents for the consideration and endorsement of the Executive Council the Terms of Use of the logo and visual identity of the International Year, developed following the presentation of the logo at the 126th session of the Council.

II. Steering Committee for the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027

5. The Steering Committee serves as the strategic steering and validation mechanism for the preparation and implementation of the International Year. On the basis of proposals and documentation prepared by the Secretariat, it reviews, guides, prioritizes and approves key programmatic, operational and partnership-related elements and helps ensure coherence across national, regional and global initiatives.

6. It operates within the established intergovernmental framework of UN Tourism and without prejudice to the authority of its governing bodies. Its voting membership comprises the nine full members of the Committee on Tourism and Sustainability and the Chairs of the six Regional Commissions, while representatives of Associate and Affiliate Members participate as observers and other relevant stakeholders may be invited on an ad hoc basis, as appropriate.

7. The Steering Committee convened its first meeting in Toledo, Spain, on 11 June 2026, in the context of the 126th session of the Executive Council. Following the Council's endorsement of the roadmap and supporting framework, the meeting marked the formal commencement of the Committee's work and the transition from the design and consultation phase towards operational implementation. Members reviewed the core elements of the endorsed framework and exchanged views on the Committee's working modalities, regional priorities and emerging proposals for flagship events.

III. Preparatory process and consultations

8. Regional engagement with Member States was advanced through dedicated technical discussions on the roadmap for the International Year held in the context of the 72nd Meeting of the Commission for Europe in Malta from 12 to 14 May 2026 and the 71st Meeting of the Commission for the Americas in Paraguay from 28 to 29 May 2026. The discussions provided an opportunity to present the emerging implementation framework, gather regional perspectives and encourage early preparations at the national level.

9. Since July 2026, a series of regional onboarding webinars has supported Member States in preparing for national implementation of the International Year, with particular emphasis on the establishment, role and composition of National Committees. The sessions have also provided a forum to exchange information on national coordination arrangements, clarify implementation modalities and respond to questions from Member States.

10. By the end of September 2026, the regional onboarding programme had covered all UN Tourism regions. Sessions were held for Europe on 14 July; for the Americas in Spanish on 13 August and in English on 20 August; for Asia and the Pacific on 16 September; for the Middle East on 21 September; and for Africa in French on 28 September and in English on 29 September. The regional format enabled information and guidance to be adapted to different regional contexts and language needs while maintaining a common implementation framework for the International Year.

11. In parallel, global onboarding activities have been initiated with academic and research networks, members of the International Network of Sustainable Tourism Observatories (INSTO) and Affiliate Members, with a particular focus on the knowledge and research pillar of the International Year. These activities are intended to mobilize the research and knowledge community around the development of the International Year's knowledge products and related initiatives.

12. A further step in broadening engagement has been the preparation of dedicated notes verbales to systematically inform Member States and non-Member States as well as organizations and entities of the United Nations system about the International Year, its implementation framework and opportunities for participation. The communications invite engagement through national coordination mechanisms, programmes and initiatives, research and knowledge-sharing, data and evidence, capacity-building and other relevant activities at national, regional and global levels.

IV. Main elements of the framework submitted to the Executive Council

13. The implementation framework for the International Year brings together governance and consultation, thematic priorities, national coordination through National Committees, flagship events, knowledge and research, capacity-building, and communications and outreach. These elements support coordinated implementation at national, regional and global levels. Progress in the main areas is outlined below.

National Committees

14. While a number of Member States are advancing preparations for the establishment of National Committees or other national coordination mechanisms, Japan officially constituted its National Committee for the International Year in September 2026. Member States are encouraged to establish such mechanisms as the principal platforms for organizing implementation at the national level, facilitating stakeholder engagement and providing structured inputs to regional and global processes.

Opening Ceremony, global milestones and flagship events

15. The official Opening Ceremony of the International Year will be held in Tashkent, Uzbekistan, on 27 November 2026. It will provide a high-level platform to present the implementation framework for 2027, mobilize engagement and highlight the principal avenues through which Member States and other stakeholders can contribute to the International Year.

16. The annual Global Tourism Resilience Day on 17 February 2027 will provide an additional opportunity to highlight resilience-related initiatives and activities undertaken in the context of the International Year.

17. At the time of submission of the present document, formal requests had been received from Honduras and the Philippines to host the flagship events for the Americas and Asia and the Pacific, respectively. The Secretariat has also received requests for further information from several Member States regarding the remaining flagship events. Member States from Africa,

Europe and the Middle East are invited to submit proposals to the Secretariat at the earliest opportunity, with a view to ensuring balanced regional representation across the five flagship events.

18. The UN Tourism General Assembly in 2027 will serve as a major milestone of the International Year, providing a global platform to bring together the outcomes and perspectives emerging from the five regional flagship events, alongside the principal analytical outputs and experiences generated through National Committees, regional consultations and capacity-building activities. This consolidation will support a high-level discussion on tourism's contribution to sustainable development and its longer-term positioning within future global development frameworks.

Knowledge and research pillar

19. Global onboarding activities have been initiated with seven leading academic and research networks,[2] as well as with members of INSTO and Affiliate Members. Two dedicated global onboarding webinars for academia were held on 29 and 30 September 2026 to mobilize contributions to the knowledge and research pillar of the International Year.

20. Work is advancing on three mutually reinforcing core knowledge products for the International Year: the flagship reports Future of Work in Tourism for the post-2030 agenda and Resilient Tourism Development and its contribution to Poverty Alleviation, Urban Prosperity and Biodiversity Protection as well as the rolling analytical report Strategic Roadmap - Tourism in the Agenda 2030+. The rolling report will progressively consolidate evidence, experiences and inputs generated across the International Year, with the aim of informing the longer-term positioning of tourism within future global development frameworks. Potential partners from Member States, international organizations and the research community are being identified, and interested stakeholders are invited to contribute knowledge, research expertise and, where appropriate, financial support.

Partnerships and support

21. A dedicated information brochure for potential partners and supporters has been prepared and targeted outreach has commenced with enterprises, organizations and other prospective contributors. The material sets out opportunities to support the International Year as a whole or specific workstreams and activities, including through financial contributions, in-kind support and collaboration on events, analytical work, publications, capacity-building and outreach, in accordance with the applicable partnership framework and safeguards.

22. Member States, international organizations, the private sector, academia and other relevant stakeholders are invited to actively support the Secretariat's resource mobilization efforts for the International Year, including by facilitating outreach to potential partners and contributors and by identifying opportunities for financial, in-kind, knowledge-based and other forms of support consistent with the approved partnership framework.

Terms of use of the logo and visual identity

23. The official logo of the International Year was presented to and approved by the Executive Council in its decision 4(CXXVI) adopted at its 126th session in Toledo, Spain, in June 2026. Following the Council's decision, the Terms of Use governing the official logo, its visual identity and recognition marks, have been finalized and are submitted in Annex I. These Terms of Use govern the use of the official logo approved by the Council and any related version or mark (together the "Visual Identity").

[2] The International Association of Scientific Experts in Tourism (AIEST), the Association for Tourism and Leisure Education and Research (ATLAS), the Euro-Asia Tourism Studies Association (EATSA), the International Federation for Information Technology and Travel & Tourism (IFITT), the Travel and Tourism Research Association (TTRA), the International Council on Hotel, Restaurant, and Institutional Education (ICHRIE) and the Association of Tourism, Hospitality and Events Networks in Academia (ATHENA).

24. Accompanying Visual Identity Guidelines have also been prepared to support the practical application of the Terms of Use, specifying approved formats, fonts and other graphic elements and helping to ensure the consistent and appropriate use of the International Year's visual identity throughout its implementation.

Communication, promotion and visibility

25. The dedicated website of the International Year is operational and serves as the principal online platform for information, guidance and resources related to the initiative, including implementation materials, visual identity guidance and information on opportunities for engagement.

26. Initial visibility materials for the International Year are being developed.

27. Development of the broader communications campaign for the International Year has been initiated, including a flagship audiovisual component and related digital content intended to support global awareness, stakeholder engagement and the consistent promotion of the International Year throughout 2027.

Annex I: Terms of use of the official logo and visual identity of the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027

1. Purpose and scope

These Terms of Use govern the use of the official logo approved by the Executive Council for the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027 (the "IYSRT 2027 Logo") and any related version or Recognition Mark separately approved under the applicable authority (together with the "IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity").

They apply to all uses governed by these Terms and shall be read together with the applicable Visual Identity Guidelines and any specific authorization, recognition arrangement or other agreement issued by UN Tourism.

The International Year Portal (the "Portal"), operated by UN Tourism, serves as the principal platform for the registration, recording, coordination, monitoring, visibility and reporting of uses governed by these Terms, in accordance with the applicable authorization, registration and recognition route. Registration or validation through the Portal does not, by itself, grant a right of use.

Where the Portal is not available or accessible, UN Tourism may establish alternative procedures for any registration, submission, recording or acceptance required under these Terms, without affecting the validity of an authorization or recognition otherwise granted in accordance with these Terms. Any registration, submission, recording or acceptance granted under such an alternative procedure must comply with these Terms and the Visual Identity Guidelines unless otherwise expressly authorized by UN Tourism.

Any authorization or recognition under these Terms is non-exclusive, non-transferable and revocable, and is limited strictly to the authorized user, purpose, scope, activity, material and period specified in these Terms or in the applicable authorization, registration or partnership arrangement.

2. Guiding Principles

Use of the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity and Recognition Marks shall be governed by the following principles:

- integrity of the United Nations system and UN Tourism
- non-endorsement and neutrality
- transparency of attribution
- non-commercial purposes, unless expressly authorized under these Terms of Use or through an appropriate agreement
- consistency with the objectives of the International Year
- compliance with the applicable legal framework, Visual Identity Guidelines and authorization procedures.

3. Ownership and Institutional Identity

The IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity and any Recognition Marks developed in connection with the International Year are official assets owned and administered by UN Tourism pursuant to CE/DEC/4(CXXVI), without prejudice to any rights of the United Nations. All rights, title and interest remain with UN Tourism.

UN Tourism retains final authority over authorization, interpretation, suspension and withdrawal of any use of the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity and Recognition Marks. UN Tourism may at any time revise the conditions governing their use and may suspend or withdraw any authorization, or recognition granted under these Terms.

For the purposes of these Terms, references to "National Committees" include other national mechanisms formally designated for the implementation of the International Year, where applicable.

National Committees may authorize, within their respective areas of competence, the use of the Support Version for eligible national and subnational events, activities, initiatives and related materials that comply with the objectives of the International Year, these Terms and the applicable guidance. Such authorizations shall be registered through the Portal.

National Committees shall not modify the Support Version, authorize its use for purposes other than the authorized activity, or transfer or sublicense any right to use the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity. They shall not authorize the use of the Official Version or any Recognition Mark, or the name, acronym, emblem, logo or official seal of UN Tourism or the United Nations.

Where no National Committee exists, or where an activity falls outside the scope of the national registration route, the applicable request shall be submitted directly to UN Tourism in accordance with these Terms and the applicable procedures.

No authorization, validation, registration or recognition granted under these Terms confers any separate right to use the name, acronym, emblem, logo or official seal of UN Tourism ("UN Tourism Signs") or the United Nations ("United Nations Signs"). Use of UN Tourism Signs requires separate prior written authorization under A/RES/601(XIX). Use of United Nations Signs requires authorization from the competent United Nations authority. Authorization by UN Tourism under these Terms does not substitute for such authorization.

The Support Version, Partner Recognition Mark or Knowledge Contribution Mark made available under these Terms shall not incorporate any UN Tourism Sign or a United Nations Sign.

The wording "Facilitated by UN Tourism" may be used only in UN Tourism's own communications or in materials specifically authorized in writing by UN Tourism for that purpose.

4. Approved Versions and Recognition Marks[3]

4.1 Official Version

The Official Version is reserved for UN Tourism. A third party may use it only exceptionally, under a specific prior written authorization by UN Tourism, and pursuant to the applicable rules governing the use of UN Tourism Signs, for jointly organized activities, official programme events or other institutional uses involving UN Tourism.

4.2 Support Version

The Support Version may be used by authorized external actors solely for non-commercial activities, initiatives and related materials contributing to the objectives of the International Year, except as expressly authorized under Section 6. It shall include the wording: "In support of the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027" and shall not incorporate any UN Tourism Sign or United Nations Sign.

4.3 Recognition Marks

a. Partner Recognition Mark: A dedicated Partner Recognition Mark may be provided by UN Tourism to organizations formally recognized under a signed partnership arrangement for the International Year. The Mark shall identify only the relevant partnership category and may only be used for the purposes, period and under the conditions established in the applicable partnership arrangement.
   Partner Recognition Marks do not confer any right to use the Official Version, the Support Version, a UN Tourism Sign or a United Nations Sign and do not imply endorsement by UN Tourism of the partner, its activities, related materials or services.
b. Knowledge Contribution Mark: A dedicated recognition mark may be made available for independent research, publications and other non-commercial knowledge products developed as contributions to the knowledge initiative of the International Year. The mark shall include the wording "In support of the International Year Knowledge Initiative".

[3] The IYSRT2027 visual identity is set out in the "Visual Identity Guidelines" made available by UN Tourism.

Use of the Knowledge Contribution Mark requires an affirmative authorization following at least an eligibility and integrity screening. It does not imply that the knowledge product has been reviewed, validated, approved or endorsed by UN Tourism, nor does it imply inclusion in the Knowledge Base of the International Year.

All versions and Recognition Marks must always be used in the complete form supplied by UN Tourism, without modification, separation or adaptation, and in accordance with the applicable Visual Identity Guidelines.

5. Authorized Users and Authorization Routes

Use of the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity and Recognition Marks is subject to the applicable authorization, registration or recognition route established under these Terms.

5.1 Official Version
UN Tourism is the primary user of the Official Version.
Any use by a third party requires prior written authorization by UN Tourism and is limited to:

- jointly organized activities
- official programme events
- other institutional uses involving UN Tourism.

Authorized third-party use of the Official Version shall be recorded by UN Tourism.

5.2 Support Version
(a) At the National Level
In accordance with the Guidance Note on National Committees for the International Year, National Committees may authorize the use of the Support Version for eligible national and subnational events, activities, initiatives and related materials within their respective areas of competence, provided that they comply with the objectives of the International Year, these Terms and the applicable guidance. Such authorizations shall be registered through the Portal and shall be limited to the authorized activity, the authorized user, the materials and the period specified in the registration.
Before providing the Support Version to an authorized user, the National Committee shall ensure that the user has expressly accepted these Terms, including the applicable liability provisions, and shall retain evidence of such acceptance, to be made available to UN Tourism upon request.

All uses of the Support Version authorized by National Committees shall be registered through the Portal, which shall serve as the central record of such authorizations. National Committees shall not modify the Support Version, vary the artwork or conditions, authorize its use for any other purpose including commercial use, or transfer or sublicense any right to use the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity.
Where no National Committee or designated national mechanism exists, the applicant shall submit the request directly to UN Tourism.
These arrangements apply, where applicable, to both UN Tourism Member States and non-Member States.

(b) United Nations System Organizations
UN system organizations may use and internally authorize the use of the Support Version for their own non-commercial activities and communications supporting the objectives of the International Year without requiring prior approval from UN Tourism, through designated focal points or other duly authorized representatives. Authorization shall be registered through the Portal for reporting and monitoring and shall comply with these Terms and the applicable Visual Identity Guidelines.
For the purposes of this provision, the respective United Nations system organization shall be the authorized user and shall ensure compliance with these Terms and the applicable Visual Identity Guidelines through its designated focal point or other duly authorized representative. Each participating United Nations system organization shall be responsible for ensuring that access to the Support Version and its use within the organization are appropriately controlled and limited to authorized purposes. Where the organization has its own logo, it shall be displayed alongside the Support Version, in accordance with the applicable Visual Identity Guidelines. This route does not authorize United Nations system organizations to transfer or sublicense the right of use to third parties or to authorize use by external entities.

For country-specific activities, coordination with the relevant National Committee or national authorization mechanism is encouraged to ensure coherence with national implementation of the International Year.

(c) Regional and Global Activities
Use of the Support Version for activities covering more than one country, or having a global scope, shall be authorized by UN Tourism, in consultation with the relevant National Committees as appropriate.

5.3 Recognition Marks

a) Partner Recognition Marks: Organizations formally recognized as partners of the International Year will be provided with the applicable Partner Recognition Mark in accordance with the relevant partnership arrangement and the Partnership Guidelines of the International Year.
The Partner Recognition Mark identifies the organization's agreed relationship with the International Year and may only be used in the form supplied by UN Tourism and for the purposes and period established in the applicable partnership arrangement. It may not be modified, transferred or sublicensed, and use outside the expressly approved scope requires a new written authorization.
The Partner Recognition Mark may be used only for factual acknowledgement of the agreed relationship and does not imply endorsement by UN Tourism of the partner or of its activities, products, services or views.

b) Knowledge Contribution Mark: Academic institutions, research bodies, individual researchers and other contributors may apply either through the National Committee or through the Portal to use the Knowledge Contribution Mark for independent research, publications and other non-commercial knowledge products contributing to the objectives and thematic priorities of the International Year, provided that the applicable conditions for use of the Mark are accepted.
Registration is not authorization. UN Tourism shall conduct an eligibility and integrity screening and shall issue an affirmative authorization before the Mark may be used. Responsibility for the content, methodology, findings and conclusions remains entirely with the authoring institution or author.
Authorization for use of the Knowledge Contribution Mark does not imply review, validation, endorsement or inclusion of the knowledge product in the Knowledge Base of the International Year. Inclusion in the Knowledge Base is subject to the separate criteria and procedures established for the Knowledge Base of the International Year.

6. Commercial Use

For the purposes of these Terms, commercial use means use of the IYSRT 2027 visual identity in connection with the promotion, marketing or sale of goods or services, paid advertising, commercial merchandise, product packaging, cause-related marketing, or any other activity intended to generate a direct or indirect commercial or personal financial benefit. Any such use requires prior written authorization by UN Tourism. The requesting entity must provide the information specified in the applicable online application form available at (link) and listed below:

- a short statement of identity (nature of the company and its activities)
- an explanation of how and where the IYSRT 2027 visual identity will be used
- the names of the countries or territories where the IYSRT 2027 visual identity will be used
- the nature of the products or services that the company produce or sell in those areas
- what profits the company expects to make from the use of the IYSRT 2027 visual identity
- a summary budget
- any proposed contributions that the company would make to the United Nations and/or to local, national or other international organizations in support of the IYSRT 2027, and
- a waiver of liability (please see the text below) signed by the entity requesting to use the IYSRT 2027 visual identity.

Proposals for commercial uses of the IYSRT 2027 visual identity will be reviewed by UN Tourism on a case-by-case basis and may be authorized by UN Tourism where the proposed use is consistent with the objectives of the International Year and does not imply endorsement by UN Tourism or the United Nations of the entity, its related materials or services.

Partner Recognition Marks may be used by formally recognized partners to communicate their partnership status through their normal corporate and institutional communication channels, in accordance with the purposes and conditions established in the applicable partnership arrangement. Such uses may include corporate websites, annual reports, sustainability reports, corporate social-media communications, press releases, exhibition stands and institutional presentations and shall not require separate authorization for each individual use where they fall within the scope of the applicable partnership arrangement.

No recognition authorizes use of the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity in connection with the promotion, marketing, sale or endorsement of commercial products or services unless specifically authorized by UN Tourism.

Registration through the Portal does not in itself constitute authorization for any commercial use covered by this Section.

National Committees may not authorize commercial use under this Section.

7. Permitted Uses

Subject to the applicable authorization, registration or recognition route, established under these Terms, the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity and Recognition Marks may be used, as applicable, for the following activities relating to the International Year:

- events, conferences, workshops, consultations and capacity-building activities undertaken in connection with the International Year
- publications, reports, research, presentations and educational materials
- websites, social media content, videos and other digital communications
- public awareness and outreach activities consistent with the principles of the United Nations and the objectives of the International Year
- non-commercial promotional materials distributed free of charge in connection with an activity covered by these Terms
- communication of an organization’s formally recognized partnership with the International Year through its corporate and institutional channels, including corporate websites, annual and sustainability reports, corporate social-media communications, press releases, exhibition stands and institutional presentations, in accordance with the applicable partnership arrangement
- independent knowledge products authorized to use the Knowledge Contribution Mark, and
- factual reporting and documentation of activities, results and legacy relating to the International Year.

8. Prohibited Uses

The IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity and Recognition Marks shall not be used:

- in any manner implying endorsement by the United Nations or UN Tourism of the activities for which the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity or Recognition Mark is being used, the entity organizing the activity, or any of its related materials or services
- for activities inconsistent with UN or UN Tourism principles or the objectives of the International Year
- on or in connection with commercial products or paid services, or for direct or indirect financial or commercial gain except as expressly authorized under Section 6
- for fundraising by commercial or for-profit entities
- as part of a name, trade or service mark, commercial label, domain name or account identifier
- as a certification, accreditation or quality mark
- in modified, distorted, animated, recoloured, translated or otherwise altered form, unless that exact version or mark has been officially supplied or its modification or translation has been expressly permitted or approved by UN Tourism
- with required wording removed, separated or used independently

- in the Official Version by unauthorized users
- in a manner that misrepresents the user's authorization, registration, partnership or other relationship with the International Year, or
- in misleading, defamatory, discriminatory, political, unlawful or otherwise reputationally harmful contexts.

9. Visual Identity Guidelines

All users must comply with the Visual Identity Guidelines, including:

- full reproduction of approved artwork
- correct colour usage
- minimum size and clear space
- approved language versions only.

The IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity and Recognition Marks must be used only in the form supplied by UN Tourism and may not be altered unless explicitly approved.

10. Co-branding and Presentation

When used alongside other logos, the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity and Recognition Marks must remain visually distinct and be presented in accordance with the applicable Visual Identity Guidelines.

Such presentation must not imply any endorsement, joint identity or institutional relationship with UN Tourism beyond that expressly established in writing.

Any specific co-branding arrangements for jointly organized activities, official programme events or formally agreed partnerships require prior written approval by UN Tourism or shall be defined in a formal agreement established for that purpose.

11. Registration, Reporting and Records

Registration, authorization, monitoring and record-keeping shall follow the applicable route established under these Terms.

National Committees must register through the Portal all national and subnational activities, initiatives and related materials for which they have authorized the use of the Support Version. The Portal shall serve as the central record of such authorizations.

Applications concerning the Knowledge Contribution Mark may be submitted through the National Committee or through the dedicated Knowledge Contribution route of the Portal and shall remain pending until UN Tourism issues an affirmative authorization.

Partner Recognition Marks shall be issued and recorded by UN Tourism only on the basis of the applicable partnership arrangement.

Activities falling outside the national registration route, including regional or global activities, shall be submitted to UN Tourism for authorization in accordance with these Terms and the applicable procedures.

UN Tourism shall maintain appropriate records of uses authorized directly by the Organization.
Information recorded or submitted under these Terms may be used for coordination, monitoring, visibility and reporting in relation to the International Year.

Registration, or inclusion of an activity on the Portal does not, by itself, constitute authorization or endorsement by UN Tourism.

12. Duration of Use

Authorization or recognition is valid only from the date on which it is issued and for the period stated in it.

Unless otherwise specified, every right to use the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity or Recognition Marks shall be limited to the period of implementation of the International Year and related official activities. Any use beyond that period requires express authorization under the applicable route.

After expiry, the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity or Recognition Marks may continue to appear solely for factual reporting, evaluation, archiving and communication of the results or legacy of activities undertaken during the International Year. It may not be used to promote a continuing partnership, product, service or activity.

13. Liability

All external users of the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity or Recognition Marks shall accept the following conditions as part of the applicable authorization, registration or recognition route or agreement:

- The user is solely responsible for ensuring its activities' compliance with applicable laws, the safety of participants, and the maintenance of appropriate insurance.
- UN Tourism does not assume any responsibility or liability for the user, its activities, related materials, services, personnel, contractors or communications, and the authorization creates no agency, joint venture, certification or endorsement.
- Where a user is expressly permitted to translate text forming part of the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity into a language for which an official version has not been supplied by UN Tourism, the user shall be solely responsible for the accuracy of the translation. UN Tourism and the United Nations assume no responsibility or liability arising from such translation.
- The user shall indemnify, hold harmless and defend UN Tourism and its officials from any claims, losses, liabilities and expenses arising from the activity or use of the mark, including claims concerning third-party intellectual property. Nothing in these Terms constitutes or may be construed as a waiver of the privileges and immunities of UN Tourism or the United Nations.
- The liability and indemnification provisions set out in this Section and Annex II apply to non-UN entities and shall not apply to United Nations system organizations using the Support Version in accordance with Section 5.2(b).

14. Monitoring, Suspension and Withdrawal

UN Tourism may, at any time:

- request evidence of use
- require corrective action
- suspend or withdraw authorization or recognition, irrespective of the manner in which it was granted.

Non-compliant use must be corrected, suspended or removed promptly upon request by UN Tourism. A National Committee may require corrective action or provisionally suspend a use that it has authorized and shall promptly inform UN Tourism through the Portal. Final withdrawal authority remains with UN Tourism.

15. No Transfer or Sublicensing

Authorization or recognition is personal to the approved entity and may not be transferred, assigned or sublicensed.

Service providers may reproduce an approved mark solely as agents acting on the instructions and responsibility of the entity holding the applicable authorization or recognition.

16. Amendments and Interpretation

UN Tourism may update these Terms at any time.

The version published on the official International Year platform or Portal shall apply from the date indicated.

Questions of interpretation shall be addressed to and determined by UN Tourism.

17. Contact

Requests, notifications, reports of misuse and questions concerning use of the IYSRT 2027 Visual Identity or Recognition Marks should be submitted through the Portal or sent to IYSRT2027@untourism.int.

1 Introduction

1.1. About

The United Nations has declared 2027 the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism (IYSRT 2027). The World Tourism Organization (UN Tourism), in collaboration with other relevant United Nations (UN) entities and partners, serves as the lead agency for the celebration of the Year.

The International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism (IYSRT 2027) aims to raise global awareness of the vital role tourism plays in promoting economic development, cultural exchange and environmental stewardship. It emphasizes the importance of fostering tourism systems that are both sustainable and resilient, capable of adapting to global challenges while promoting and safeguarding livelihoods and preserving natural and cultural heritage.

This initiative seeks to encourage governments, private sector stakeholders, local communities and travelers to adopt responsible practices that minimize environmental impact, support local economies and strengthen the resilience of destinations worldwide.

These Visual Identity Guidelines have been developed to support all stakeholders who wish to participate in activities and events related to the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027 (IYSRT 2027). To ensure consistency and coherence across all communications, the use of the IYSRT 2027 visual identity must always comply with these Guidelines.

For further details regarding authorized use and users, kindly refer to the Terms of Use of the Official Logo and Visual Identity of the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027 (IYSRT 2027) and the associated waiver of liability.*

The logo and visual identity may only be used with prior authorization from UN Tourism or from National Committees (or their equivalent) responsible for the implementation of the International Year at the national level.

* Please refer to the authorization procedures established under the Terms of Use of the Official Logo and Visual Identity of the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027 (IYSRT 2027).

1.2. Concept

The logo is directly inspired by that designed for the International Year of Sustainable Tourism for Development 2017, reflecting its core principles through a clear and balanced visual language. It features a dandelion, whose dispersing seeds symbolically represent travelers and the global exchange of cultures, experiences, and knowledge.

The seeds also evoke the idea of new beginnings, representing the foundation upon which shared values can be cultivated and strengthened, fostering greater understanding and harmony.

The color palette is aligned with the Sustainable Development Goals of the 2030 Agenda, with each color representing a specific commitment to sustainable development. Together, these elements convey a coherent vision and a structured path forward, grounded in respect, responsibility, and sustainability.

1.3. Design

1. The pictogram is inspired by the seeds of a dandelion, rendered in the colors associated with each of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Each seed is depicted at the beginning of its journey, poised to disperse, symbolizing movement, transformation, and the global exchange of ideas and experiences aligned with sustainable development.

2. The year is integrated within the pictogram, following the spherical composition of the dandelion. This approach subtly incorporates the form of the "0" in 2027, creating a harmonious visual connection between the symbolic element and the temporal reference.

3. The thematic text is positioned beneath the logo, providing clarity and context. Its placement ensures legibility while reinforcing the overall balance of the composition and supporting the communication of the Year's central message.

The pictogram and text must not be separated in this version of the logo.

2 Visual identity

2.1. Main Color Version

The logo uses the color palette of the SDG wheel to bring the main element—the dandelion—to life. The specific colors applied are detailed below:

2.3. Languages

The languages approved for the use of the logo are the six official languages of the United Nations:

- Arabic
- Chinese
- English
- French
- Russian
- Spanish

You can download the logotypes in this following link:

2.4. Sizes and versions

To maintain clarity and legibility, for all six-language versions, the minimum width of the IYSRT visual identity is:

- Print: width = 20 mm
- Web: width = 55 pixels

2.5. Structure and clear space

The construction of the IYSRT 2027 visual identity is based on a square grid system.

A minimum clear space of x/6 must be maintained on all sides of the visual identity, where “x” corresponds to the width of the pictogram. This clear space ensures that the visual identity remains distinct and legible, free from interference by surrounding elements.

This spacing system must be consistently applied across all language versions.

2.6. Backgrounds

The visual identity should always be used in full colour against a solid background, ideally white.

Overlaying it onto busy photography or a background without sufficient contrast is not recommended.

Solid Dark blue/white versions have been created as alternatives, but these should only be used when absolutely necessary.

2.7. Misuse

To ensure consistent and appropriate visuals for communicating the desired message, a general set of guidelines is outlined here.

3 Mark Categories and use with other logos

3.1. Mark Categories

To ensure consistent and appropriate use of the visual identity of the 2027 International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism (IYSRT 2027), a set of distinct mark categories has been established.

Each category reflects a specific type of use, engagement or relationship with the International Year, from official use and general support to partner recognition and knowledge contributions. The appropriate mark should be selected according to the organization's role and level of engagement with the initiative.

All marks form part of the same visual identity system and should be used in accordance with the guidelines outlined in this document.

The IYSRT 2027 logo may only be used with prior authorization from UN Tourism or from a National Committee (or equivalent body) to which UN Tourism has delegated the authority to approve its use.*

- Official version: For exclusive use by UN Tourism and its associated activities. Any third-party use requires prior written authorization.

- Support version: For use by governments, UN agencies, organizations and other entities wishing to show their support for the International Year. The mark should be accompanied by the statement:
"In support of the International Year"

- Partner Recognition Mark: For use by officially recognized partners of the International Year. The mark should clearly indicate the relevant partnership category and be accompanied by the statement:
"[Partnership Categoriy] In support of the International Year"

  The partnership categories are:

  - Transformational Partner
  - Strategic Partner
  - Impact Partner
  - Supporting Partner
  - Associate Partner

- Knowledge Contribution Mark: For use in connection with contributions to the International Year Knowledge Initiative. The mark should be accompanied by the statement:
"In support of the International Year Knowledge Initiative"

* Please refer to the authorization procedures established under the Terms of Use of the Official Logo and Visual Identity of the International Year of Sustainable and Resilient Tourism 2027 (IYSRT 2027).

3.2. Official version*

The official version of the logo is for UN Tourism use primarily. As such, the size of the UN Tourisn logo as well as that of the IYSRT 2027 visual identity should be harmonized alongside each other.

The logos must be centered horizontally and a thin black line should be used as a separator. The horizontal distance between each element and the separating line should be equal to the IYSRT 2027 visual identity clear space area (three square modules per side).

* For use exclusively by UN Tourism or by third parties specifically authorized by UN Tourism.

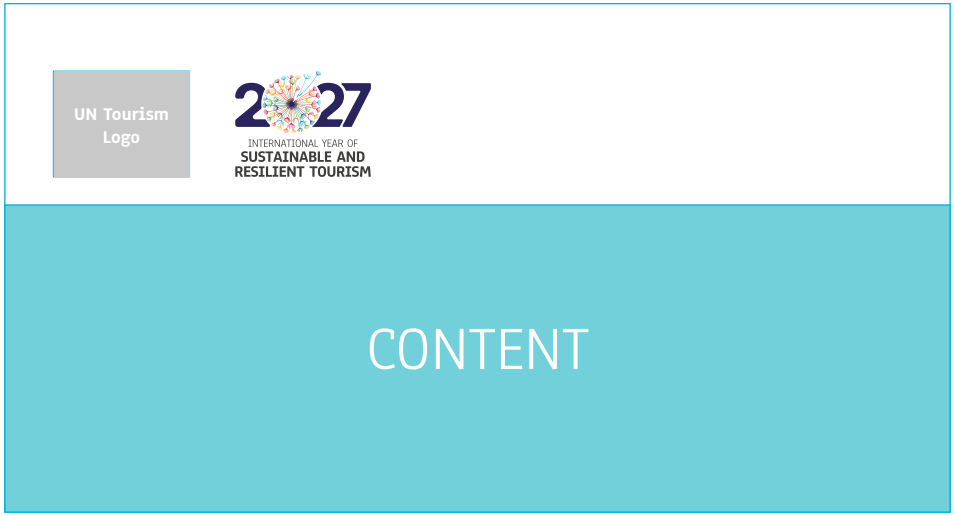

3.3. UN tourism and in collaboration with other entities

The Official Version of the logo is reserved for UN Tourism use and for UN Tourism associated activities in relation to the International Year. A third party may use it only exceptionally, under a specific prior written authorization by UN Tourism.

Example (a) illustrates the logo arrangement for UN Tourism applications, while example (b) illustrates the arrangement for activities carried out by UN Tourism in partnership with third parties.

3.4. Support version

Authorized entities including UN entities, governments, intergovernmental organizations, and non-state actors—may use the IYSRT 2027 visual identity in co-branding across communication materials, activities, and events related to the International Year.

In such cases, the logo of the entity must be accompanied by the statement "In support of the International Year" placed above the IYSRT 2027 visual identity.

Where a United Nations entity, fund, programme, specialized agency or other organization of the United Nations system has its own official logo, such logo shall be displayed alongside the IYSRT 2027 visual identity in accordance with these Guidelines and the applicable Terms of Use.

* The IYSRT 2027 logo may only be used with prior authorization from UN Tourism or from a National Committee (or equivalent body) to which UN Tourism has delegated the authority to approve its use.

3.5. Partner recognition Mark*

Organizations recognized as partners of the International Year must display their logo together with the IYSRT 2027 visual identity, accompanied by the statement corresponding to their category:

"[Category] In support of the International Year", placed above the visual identity.

3.6. Knowledge Contribution Mark*

The Knowledge Contribution Mark is intended for eligible contributors supporting the International Year through research, publications and other non-commercial knowledge products. Its use is subject to authorization by UN Tourism and must always be accompanied by the statement "In support of the International Year Knowledge Initiative".

* The IYSRT 2027 logo may only be used with prior authorization from UN Tourism or from a National Committee (or equivalent body) to which UN Tourism has delegated the authority to approve its use.

3.7. Logo Arrangement for Authorized Third-Party Use

For authorized third-party use of the Support, Partnership and Knowledge Contribution Marks, the logo arrangement shown in example (c) shall apply. The logos of participating entities must appear clearly separated from the IYSRT 2027 visual identity.

4.2. Set of icons, pattern and visual languages

The visual identity is built around three interconnected elements: the seed, the dandelion and the cloud of dispersed seeds. Each represents a different scale of tourism, from individual experiences to a broader global perspective.

The seed symbolizes the individual traveler and the personal journey of discovery, movement and exploration.

The dandelion represents the collective dimension of tourism, bringing individual journeys together to reflect communities, shared experiences and human connections.

At a larger scale, the cloud of dispersed seeds illustrates tourism's regional and global reach, expressing expansion, diversity and the connections that transcend geographical and cultural boundaries.

4.3. Typefaces (Latin and Cyrillic)

Anaheim and Roboto are the primary typefaces for all communication products (print and digital) produced for the IYSRT 2027 for languages using the Latin alphabet.

- Anaheim can be downloaded for free from Google Fonts.
- Roboto can be downloaded for free from Google Fonts.

If possible, use Anaheim Bold for headings and Roboto Light for body text. Other weights (semibold, regular) are also acceptable.
