DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The World Tourism Organization (UN Tourism) is the United Nations agency responsible for the promotion of responsible, sustainable and universally accessible tourism.

The Director, Administration and Finance is a member of the Organization's senior executive leadership team and is responsible for strategic direction, corporate governance oversight, executive management and modernisation of the Organization's administrative and financial framework.

Reporting to the Secretary-General, the incumbent exercises delegated authority and is accountable for the effective stewardship of the Organization's financial, human and physical resources in accordance with the Financial Regulations and Rules, Staff Regulations and Rules, and applicable policies of the Organization.

The Director leads the areas of administration and finance, including Budget and Finance, Human Resources, Information and Communication Technologies, Procurement, General Services and Travel, and is expected not only to safeguard institutional integrity, transparency and accountability, but to drive reform and modernisation of the administrative and financial framework it leads.

Within delegated authority, the incumbent is expected to carry out the following duties:

1. Provides executive leadership and strategic direction for the Organization's administrative and financial management framework, ensuring full alignment with the mandate, Programme of Work and decisions of the governing bodies and translating institutional priorities into coherent operational frameworks across the Department;
2. Serves as the principal advisor to the Secretary-General and Senior Management on financial governance, institutional risk, resource management, administrative policy and organizational effectiveness;
3. Directs the preparation, presentation and execution of the Organization's programme budget, contributions scale and financial plans, exercising delegated authority over the allocation, management and control of financial resources;
4. Ensures the integrity, transparency and accountability of all financial operations, including treasury management, financial reporting, certification of accounts, and compliance with International Public Sector Accounting Standards (IPSAS) and applicable United Nations common system regulations;

5. Establishes, maintains and strengthens robust internal control systems, enterprise risk management frameworks and institutional compliance mechanisms to safeguard the Organization's financial, human and physical assets;
 6. Oversees engagement with internal and external audit and oversight bodies, in coordination with the relevant internal functions on matters with legal or regulatory implications, ensures timely implementation of audit recommendations and advises senior management on risk mitigation and governance improvements;
 7. Directs and oversees the development and implementation of human resources strategies, including workforce and succession planning, talent management, post classification, performance management and staff learning and development; ensures a consistent, transparent and legally sound framework for the application of the Staff Regulations and Rules, with due regard to fairness, due process and the Organization's obligations as an employer and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion across the Secretariat;
 8. Exercises corporate authority over the Organization's procurement governance framework, serving as the institutional authority responsible for procurement policy, regulatory oversight and strategic sourcing. Ensures that procurement activities are conducted in accordance with established regulations and principles of transparency, fairness, competition and best value for money. Oversees procurement risk management, internal controls and compliance mechanisms, in close coordination with the Office of Legal Affairs and International Standards, regarding regulatory interpretation and contractual matters;
 9. Provides strategic direction for information and communication technology, including ICT governance, digital transformation, administrative modernization, the integrity and security of the Organization's information systems and data, enterprise resource-planning and finance and human resources platforms, and business continuity and disaster-recovery planning;
 10. Oversees general services, including premises and facilities management, asset and inventory management, central support services, and the safety and security of staff and premises, in coordination with the Host Country authorities on premises, security and infrastructure matters;
 11. Directs the Organization's travel function, ensuring official travel is administered economically, efficiently and in accordance with applicable rules and entitlements;
 12. Advises on the administrative and financial implications of agreements, partnerships and institutional initiatives entered into by the Organization;
 13. Represents the Organization at high-level inter-agency bodies and coordination mechanisms of the United Nations common system related to finance, budget, management and administrative policy;
 14. Leads and directs department supervisors within the area of administration and finance, fostering a culture of integrity, accountability, innovation and results-based management;
 15. Supports the Secretary-General's institutional reform and change management agenda and drives its implementation across the administrative and financial functions, strengthening operational efficiency, governance standards and service delivery across the Secretariat;
 16. Performs other related duties as required.
